Mark Holdaway reported that the separate payment of approximately $24K was a one-time lump sum payment for the employee who transferred from another URS participating entity that had not been properly certified. Mark stated that the check was for make-up payments; the deficiency was identified during the most recent audit performed by Larson & Company.

Paul Meredith asked about the payment to SESD’s lobbyist in Washington , D.C. – Marcus Faust; he inquired if the payment to Marcus was still necessary.

Mark Holdaway answered that Strawberry Water Users Association (SWUA) is petitioning for a title transfer of the generating units and the transmission system; Mark reported that he spoke with Dan Ellsworth who confirmed that the continued efforts of Marcus were essential to protecting the interests of SESD not only in relation to the SWUA title transfer but also in the wake of the ever-changing face of the electric utility industry and the laws that regulate it.

Ray Loveless indicated that as the new Chairman, he would reach out to Marcus Faust and inquire about specifics regarding Marcus’ efforts on behalf of SESD.

Mark Holdaway reported that F&P had requested to have a conference call with the board; Mark stated that he would arrange for the call and request that F&P provide a daily report on happenings on the hill related to SESD. Mark stated that in addition to the F&P report, he would forward the daily report he receives from LeGrand Bitter, Director of the Utah Association of Special Districts (UASD) to the board members.
